

Round About Refresh!

Our wonderful village magazine will undergo a few changes over the coming months.

Full magazines will be published quarterly instead of bi-monthly.
A newsletter will be produced once a month between the main magazine.

Do you have...

A seasonal recipe to share?
Beautiful local photographs?
Any info you would like to write about or share?

We would love more occasional & regular contributions for OUR community magazine from parishioners.

Welcome

Many thanks to everyone who has sent in words and pictures for the magazine. It is great to hear about Allissa's marathon aspirations and Lizzie Fuller's exciting tall ships activities. We would love to know more—please keep sending in material. I would really enjoy some more local history stories and articles on unusual topics.

As ever, we have tried to cover the recent and upcoming activities in the village but please let us know what we have missed. We hope to see many of you at the Barn Dance in September and don't forget the monthly film and music offerings: BudVue and Wivey Jazz. The regular club and volunteer activities are covered in the usual way.

News from LB Parish Council

HELP! The fencing around the Triangle has been in place for many years, and now needs to have some extensive repairs. A Triangle Help Out Day was held on 8 July when we had hoped to replace a significant number of rotting posts and rails. However, we discovered that doing this by hand was not possible and machinery is required.

Your Triangle needs you

Saturday 9th September
9.30 a.m.

Don't sit on the fence.
Help us to replace it.

Reg Hendy of Langford Lakes has come to the rescue and has kindly agreed to lend a hand including the required machinery, but we still need an army of willing volunteers to help on the day.

The plan is to create three teams on Saturday 9 September starting at 9.30 am. One team will remove the rails from the affected posts, a second team will work with Reg in removing the rotting posts and fit a new one in its place, and finally a third team will replace the rails. No fencing skills are required. All we need are many willing pairs of hands.

Please contact me on dereksowden@hotmail.com, if you are keen to help, or, would like more information.

White Post Junction

We have reported to Somerset County Highways the perilous state of the road markings on the White Post junction. At the moment, they are totally illegible and obviously dangerous.

Also, at the White Post junction, although our fingerpost upgrading team made a brilliant job of refurbishing the fingerpost, an eagle eyed resident pointed out that the area gets its name from the fingerpost being all white! This was quickly amended, and now correctly reflects the name of the area.

Village School

Your Parish Council is very keen to support the village school. We had a request from the village school to make use of the Parish Council owned noticeboard just inside the school gate and are delighted to have donated the noticeboard to the school for them to use in the future.

Farewell To "Mac" MacLatchy

We are sad to announce the recent death of one of Langford Budvilles true characters, Gareth MacLatchy or Mac as he was known by all who knew him.

Born in 1945 in Chatham, Kent, Mac was a grammar school boy who left school at 16 to join 29 Commando of the Royal Marines. He went on to see active service in Borneo in the mid 1960's before leaving the army in 1969 to marry Julie his first wife, who he had met in Plymouth whilst on leave.

Mac worked in a number of roles during his career including selling insurance, and as a Civil Servant at the Taunton Tax Office. However, it was his love of music and literature for which most people will remember him. A renowned guitarist, Mac played in a number of club bands specialising in acoustic jazz guitar throughout the 70's, and his home is full of his beloved books.

A familiar figure around the village, Mac could often be seen walking his husky, Olga, in one of his eccentric hats or in front of the bar at the Martlet where he was a

Friendship Circle

The June BBQ was well attended and most of us enjoyed a meatfest, followed by lovely puds and strawberries; thanks to Sarah, Pam and John for organising/cooking and to those who helped on the day. The next meeting was a coffee & chat; Roger brought along an "old money" quiz which had us scratching our heads!

The next meetings are :

| 11 Aug | Trip to Sidmouth (time 10.00 in hall car park) |
| 25 Aug | Speaker Ian Williamson - "The Silk Road" |
| 8 Sep | Summer buffet party (price tba) |
| 22 Sep | Macmillan Coffee & chat |

All the above meetings 11 - 12.30 in the Jubilee Hall (unless otherwise stated). The £2 entry includes one raffle ticket

Wivey Food Project

Round About has reported on this important local food project in previous issues and will try to keep readers updated as it changes.

“For the July meeting, Langford Ladies met at Oak Barn, Wiveliscombe where the Wivey Food Project is currently based. Kate Benson Project Leader outlined the tremendous work of volunteers during the recent lockdowns to support local families; producing over 40 000 nutritious meals from donated food heading for landfill. There are ambitious plans to move to a more central site in Wiveliscombe.”

Zenah Rowe

Exmoor Distillery September 20, 7pm at the Jubilee Hall.

September’s meeting is a ‘Meet the Makers’ event with the award winning Exmoor Distillery. “A fun chat with plenty of samples to enjoy!”

The evening will start with Ben from this Dulverton distillery speaking about the history of the company, followed by questions and answers. We will then have the opportunity to sample tasters from Exmoor Distillery’s range including gin, vodka and rum. Linda & Jan will supply cleansing nibbles to freshen the palate.

During the evening the products will be on sale, but there is no obligation to buy. It’s a good opportunity to perhaps acquire some delicious early Christmas presents or stock up your cocktail cabinet.

If you wish to attend, please reserve your place by emailing Jan - places could be limited!

Jan Middleton janicegraham4747@gmail.com

There is no meeting in August.

LANGFORD BUDVILLE JUBILEE HALL HALLMARK

New public noticeboard

Do please use the notice board – we installed a new outside notice board last month, which is open to everyone to post information on events. There are two butterfly screws to free at the base to allow the front cover to swing up and we have bought plenty of magnets for fixing.

New bike racks

We installed these in front of the hall and hope that they will be well used in time. Thank you to Zenah who applied for them from “Take a Stand” and to all those who helped install them.

Updates

The bank outside the Hall is finally looking as if somebody cares and has planned things there! Tamzin Davies is very kindly helping to improve things with some serious weeding.

Inside, we have chosen new carpet tiles for the lobby, foyer and committee room and are waiting for the concrete screed to dry out sufficiently for C&C Carpets to install them.

Elsewhere, we are taking a hard look at the way we manage the hall. We are trialling new booking software and reviewing the keyholder system, both of which we hope will reduce the burden of administration.

There have been no recent applications to the community fund but Café Plus has donated a further £250 following the 2022/23 season of events so there is plenty in there should you have a good idea. It is wonderful to see the early success of the Baby and Toddler group and long may it flourish.

August 18

The Fabelmans directed by Steven Spielberg.

This is semi autobiographical and set in New Jersey, 1952. Inspired by The Greatest Show on Earth, young Sammy Fabelman returns home seeking to recreate it. Sammy discovers an irresistible passion for making home movies, and his creative projects become increasingly ambitious. However, when he discovers a shattering family secret, Sammy has to embrace the slow process of growing up while pursuing his dream to become a storyteller.

Coming soon

Moviola have just issued the list of films for the autumn and our selection is difficult as there are too many films we would like to show. However it is likely to include Allerlujah starring Judi Dench, Derek Jacobi and Jennifer Saunders based on a play by Alan Bennett and What's Love Got To Do With It? Starring Lily James, Shazad Latif and Emma Thompson. Details to be confirmed so watch out for more info.

Budvue tickets are still only £5 and doors open at 7pm with the main film at 7.30pm, the bar is open and ice-creams are available during the interval.

Hambe Kahle Saranne Cessford

Age 11, Saranne was taken to visit an old colonial house encompassed by a veranda, under which were lined up rows of rocks. Fascinated, she decided then and there to be a geologist and pursued her goal through a peripatetic upbringing in SA (due to her father's air force postings) and an even more peripatetic life after marrying Tony, a Geordie geologist then working for De Beers, whom she met whilst studying at Witwatersrand University.

Their first home for three years was a 15' caravan on the Karoo. Cape Town followed before London when Tony found employment in the oil industry. When the company moved them to the USA, she continued her studies during seven years in Houston, pursuing a Masters at Rice before their final return to London in 1981, when she enrolled at Imperial College for a PhD in rock deformation studies. A company flat near Sloane Square was a far cry from the caravan on the Karoo! Summers were spent around Glenelg, above the Sound of Sleat in Scotland. She combined studies and part-time jobs in geology with family life; daughter Fiona and son Duncan, (who was tragically killed during his gap year in SA). The children boarded when they were posted to Indonesia for three years and then Tony retired.

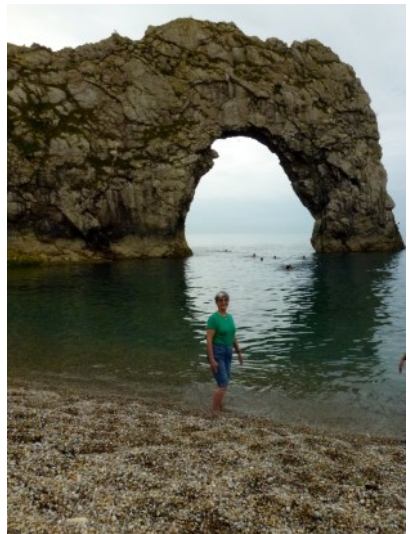

But they did not cease to be rolling stones! A house in Newbury was exchanged for Anstey Farm near Dulverton where sheep and poultry kept them busy, though Saranne was also working for Rio Tinto as a "gofor", ie a researcher. She certainly, all her working life, has had to keep up with IT from which we have benefited enormously. Seven years later they sold the farm to return to Cape Town, where sadly Tony died suddenly in 2010. Saranne then started volunteering at Kirstenbosch Gardens which rekindled her interest in botany, inherited from her maternal grandmother - Saranne's roots lie in the family farm in the Free Orange State. All things spring from the earth beneath our feet and her passion for geology has made her a perpetual student, ever curious to learn and delighting to teach, her retentive memory enabling her to consolidate and apply her knowledge with the meticulous standards which we have seen in Roundabout.

Now after ten years in Langford Budville where she has shown an exceptional talent for fitting into the community and has contributed in many ways, Saranne tackles the next stage in her life – a flat in Penarth near Fiona and her husband André. But the travels are not over and as she loves non-tropical islands, she would choose to return to Australia and visit Lord Howe Island.

We thank her for all she has achieved here and wish her well! In particular, we will miss her artistic eye as revealed by all the photos in Round About.

CHOCOLATE CHIP BROWNIES

Not so seasonal, but definitely a rather delicious, if somewhat calorific, treat. A favourite from the kitchen of Sally Pritchard.

Ingredients

- 240g salted butter
- 270g dark chocolate
- 160g milk chocolate
- 220g golden castor sugar
- 220g soft light brown sugar
- 1 tsp vanilla essence
- 160g plain flour (the less unhealthy bit!)
- 250g chocolate chips
- 4 eggs

Method

Pre heat oven to 140 degrees for a fan oven.

Line a baking tray with greaseproof paper (I use a 14" x 10" tray).

Warm butter, chocolate and castor sugar in a bowl over a pan of simmering water until melted.

Stir and leave to cool.

In a separate bowl whisk the brown sugar, eggs and vanilla essence.

Stir in the flour and chocolate chips.

Add the cooled butter and chocolate mixture and pour into the baking tray.

Lick spoon!

Bake for 35 to 40 minutes.

Allow to cool in the tin, chill in fridge before cutting.

Get someone else to wash up whilst you put your feet up and enjoy a brownie!

Alissa Beasley-Another London Marathon Runner

The Beasley family moved into Swifts this January and would like to share their news about Allissa.

Allissa is currently studying Education at university, her passion and heart is working with special needs children, but if that wasn't enough, she's just taken on the challenge of running the London marathon next year, 2024! She is running in a charity place for the Make a Wish foundation and has a goal to raise £2500, which is the average cost of a wish. Allissa isn't an avid runner, so this presents her with a huge challenge. She is absolutely determined and passionate about helping a child to make a final wish.

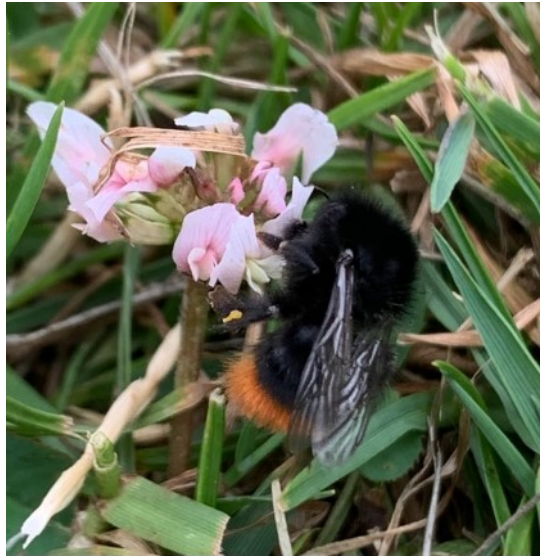

Zoe Beasley

It's amazing that such a small parish has another candidate for the London marathon.

BEE ALERT, BEE WALK 18 JUNE - text and photo by Ian Loudon

We were a small but enthusiastic party. A bumblebee was our mascot, symbol of the decline of 50% in insects and farmland birds over 50 years. The weather was sultry but the threatened thunder held off. Adults and children were beautifully decorated by Anne Halpin's face painting with immaculate bees and damselflies. A few fields had margins to allow insects to flourish but others had none. The predicted dragonflies and one yellowhammer put in an appearance but there was no profusion of bees and, butterflies needed more sun. The children were great walkers and spotters, although we could have done with far more of them to enjoy Hannah Montag's cone-bees and the hammering of Trevor Phelps's hotels. But the bar at Milverton Cricket Ground was a welcome stopover and finally Anita Roy welcomed us at Fox's Field with a snappy roundup of its impressive aims and achievements.

Can you ID Naomi's bee?

There were about 35 of us, some walking only one stage but our visitors from Mexico and France walked twice as far as the rest of us.

Conservation Group

Keep pushing for a Greener LB

The Greener Langford Budville project is still alive but it needs even more community action. A greener government might give financial assistance to increase the number of solar panels in the village. There are those who say: Why can't they leave us alone? But this ignores the many warnings. Our walk was a small gesture for nature's future and the need for wildlife corridors. The route we took could be one of those - but until farming practices and government attitudes change there will be little progress on general habitat improvement. We must not let them forget - No Nature, No Future.

Scything Jamboree

If you care about nature, please join the Conservation Group to keep our footpaths open, to help on the Common and the Triangle and to maintain the Jubilee Wood (most trees flourishing in spite of the weather). On the first Sunday and Monday of September, we are planning a Scything Jamboree, scything and raking the grass on the Wildflower Area. Everyone could contribute, if only by bringing cakes and ale.

Green fingers FEEDING SUMMER VEGETABLES

As the tomato, cucumber and aubergine season gets into full swing, the questions of when to start feeding , how much to feed and with what pop up again!

Most of these plants are container grown and thus rely on us to maintain their nutrient levels, because however good your compost and mulching have been it won't be sufficient for the season. There are a number of home made options around such as comfrey or nettle tea and the extract from wormeries . All of which provide some nutritional value but as the strength required and nutritional content are unmeasured and variable, turning to a proprietary product is usually a more reliable answer.

Which sent me to the garden centre for research..... very interesting!

For a start be very wary of the use of organic, as a lot of the products are organic chemically, but carry no certification for their manufacture or content. So if you want an organically produced product, look for a logo such as Organic Farmers and Growers or The Soil Association.

The next thing of interest was to look on the label for the nutritional values of the product, several said nothing at all particularly the seaweed ones, so again you have no idea what you are gaining in terms of Nitrogen, Potassium and phosphorus NPK.

Also different brands have different strengths of NPK and thus have different dilution rates, making them some of them much better value than others. The own brand working out to be significantly better value.

As to feeding, it really is a case of following the label on the back as each product is always a bit different. But always mix the food into the watering can well, avoid getting water on the foliage of tomato plants and never make it a bit stronger for luck!

Aubergines and cucumbers are very thirsty plants, but tomatoes can be more flavoursome if not over watered. The most important thing with tomatoes in particular to avoid split fruit or blossom end rot is to give them the same amount each day, a nurseryman told me to have a tank and a jug or container and use that always. We chose to feed on a set day of the week and call it feeding Friday to help us remember.

CHIPLEY MILL VISIT

Greener Gardening Group

On Monday July 17 Jackie and Roger Milsom opened their garden to members and partners for a “bring and share” supper. Particularly brave after the storms of the previous weeks! But all was well, it was a perfect evening for looking round the truly astonishing mix of a garden designed just for the enjoyment of all ages, and then also a range of fruit and vegetables beyond counting. Gherkins, for example, might not be for everyone, but the special structure they grow on at Chipley, and their beautiful flowers make even them a delight.

BLUE SHED FLOWERS

On Monday September 18 the group will visit Jan Boddington at Blue Shed Flowers, a small sustainable flower business near Waterrow. The estimated cost will be £10 per head which includes a tour, talk and soft drink and nibbles. We will need to car share as parking is very limited, so we will meet in the Martlet car park at the earlier time of 5.30 (in order to maximise on daylight) and we should arrive at 6pm. Find out more at blushedflowers.co.uk

The next meeting will be on November 20. Put the date in your diary and watch this space.

Christine Loudon

The Group continues to aim at a varied programme with sustainability in mind. We always welcome new members and new ideas.

GREENER GARDENING GROUP

Baby and Toddler Group

Successful Trial in June and July 2023

Following an application to the Community Fund in Spring this year an award was made to enable a trial, through June and July, of a Langford Budville Baby and Toddler Group - held in the Jubilee Hall on Monday mornings.

The Group is now well underway and we have been delighted by its popularity and attendance; welcoming on average 20 babies and toddlers each week in addition to their parents, grandparents and wider family members. Many who have attended have said how nice it is to have a Group running on a Monday morning as there is little else on locally, on this day of the week.

We plan to make the Group a permanent (school term time) fixture as there seems to be plenty of interest, and many requests for this, which is wonderful.

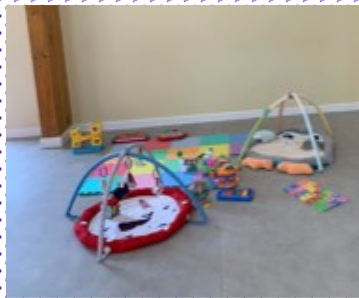

The Langford Budville Baby and Toddler Group would like to thank firstly the Community Fund and Village Hall Committee for their help and support in establishing the Group. Also, many thanks to those who have donated toys and the weekly 'Group Helpers' who have enabled each session to run.

Rachael Pavey

Baby and Toddler Group

The group runs on Monday mornings from 10am to 12pm and costs £2 per child with additional children charged at £1. Refreshments and cake included. We hope to see you there!

WELCOME to Lissie Fuller

Welcome to Lissie Fuller, who moved in to Rowan Barn at Chipley in June with her two cats Finzi, a back furry hunter, and Bertie, a handsome ginger tom cat who is far more interested in cuddles than hunting!

Lissie was brought up in Somerset and attended Wellington School. After university, she spent several years teaching Biology and coaching rowing in the independent sector before changing career to Human Resources. Until recently she worked in the Cabinet Office in Whitehall on crisis response and is currently on a career break which, in true Lissie style she is using to its full potential by securing a job as a teacher on a Tall Ship teaching 16-19 year olds whilst they sail around the world!

Lissie has very kindly agreed to send a regular bulletin on her adventures, which we will publish in the Round About so you can follow her journey. Watch this space! In the meantime she's really excited to be back on 'home turf' and would love to get to know people at community events.

Jubilee Wood Drone Day

As we sloshed about in mid-January, planting the Jubilee Wood, we had a vision of a blissfully sunny day in June when we could come together again for a photo – perhaps from a drone? Nick Girone-Maddocks had the technology. Several people promised cake and something fizzy. We ignored the forecast of thunder and borrowed Paul Always' gazebo and a Hendy table for the gathering in the magic glade. People streamed in from the car park, one on a bike. The tables groaned with goodies.

Suddenly there it was – a hovering beetle in the sky. Necks craned, the drone zoomed in, we toasted it, we waved, we stopped waving and it was done. Over 40 photos to choose from but in how many was someone looking the wrong way? Enough were very promising and the one we chose (below on the next page) will decorate the future noticeboard and find a slot in the Jubilee Hall.

Ian Loudon

JUBILEE WOOD

In 2020, the Greener Langford Budville group won a grant of £11,300 from the Somerset County Council Climate Emergency Community Fund.

This led to surveys on Biodiversity, Low Energy Travel and Household Energy. But it also stimulated interest in the parish in creating opportunities and spaces for wildlife, wildflowers and carbon capture.

The Hendy family were quick to offer land for a wood to commemorate the Platinum Jubilee of 2022 and grants from The Woodland Trust, Asda, The National Lottery and The Somerset Fund made planting possible.

In January 2023, 800 trees and shrubs were planted, with every child in the local school contributing to the perimeter hedge.

As an experiment, 75 of the tree guards and all the hedge guards are fully biodegradable.

The site is ideal, secluded, left fallow for years, abutting the nature reserve of Langford Heathfield and with pedestrian access for the public. An agreement with The Woodland Trust protects the wood well into the future and work by our local Conservation Group should give regular maintenance.

The planting scheme, illustrated by Lindsay Birch at Eightonefive Design shows only the approximate siting of trees but oak and hornbeam form the central core of a wood which will lock up carbon for many years, while providing a home for nature and pleasure for generations yet to come.
